

My primary goals in making art are actualizing that which has never existed and considering and re-presenting that which is disregarded.